Programme and content of live auditions

The live audition takes place in two rounds, followed by a final result:

Pre selection

The pre selection consists of a short ballet class and a short modern/contemporary dance class, including an improvisation. There will also be a short demonstration of flexibility. After the pre selection round, the audition committee will evaluate and invite selected candidates to join the final selection.

Final selection

The final selection consists of learning a short Codarts repertoire excerpt, a presentation of your solo (max. two minutes) and a short interview. The interview with each candidate focuses on your communication skills, motivation and personality. After the final selection round, the audition committee evaluates and all candidates will be informed whether they have passed this round of selection.

Final results

Codarts only admits a limited number of students. Candidates who have passed the final selection are admissible. If after the live audition process there are more suitable candidates than available places, the audition committee makes a new definitive selection. Candidates who make it through this last selection can be placed and will receive an enrolment package. Other suitable candidates who cannot be (directly) admitted will be added to a waiting list. Communication goes through your e-mail. If candidates do not respond in time, Codarts reserves the right to offer the place to a candidate on the waiting list.

Final results of selection will be announced latest by mid May 2022.
